

Particle Dynamics Driven by Charge Exchange

Adrian Schmautz (Ulm)

I will present a model that describes the dynamics of particles arising from charge exchange between particles. This model can be viewed as an extension of the exchange-driven growth model. In particular, I will give an overview regarding the well-posedness, conservation laws, equilibria and long-time behaviour of this model together with some insights how to prove these results.